Current Comment

by
R. H. KNAPPEN

The local players group really went to town last week with their current production, "The Scarecrow Creeps." This was a rather difficult show to put on in the time allotted, and the way was not smoothed by the fact that everybody in the cast had other extra duties to perform. Results were gratifying; the audience was enthusiastic and the financial returns—destined for further entertainment of the armed forces — were excellent. (When I say "further entertainment" I have in mind the fact that the show will be put on again Saturday night for some 700 service men at Santa Clara university's auditorium.

The full house locally reflected a great deal of credit on the Country Woman's club, sponsors of the show, for while players disposed of some tickets clubbers went all out on sales. Shows what can be done by sponsors who take their sponsorship seriously.

Ad in a Sunday paper said, in effect, "Sell your spare tire for cash; what good's one tire when the other four are worn out? And besides, the government is liable to requisition it." Fine stuff, I must say, and I hope very few people were dopes enough to fall for it. Propaganda like this, and some coming from Washington, is partly to blame for the don't care attitude of many motorists who seem to regard their tires as something to be worn out as rapidly as possible. It should be remembered that the fifth tire on your car, if properly rotated with the others, is a potential fifth added to the total mileage.

An editorial in the Evening News the other night reported on a speed survey taken on several hundred cars traversing a given distance on the highway. Results of the timing were startling to say the least, and bodes ill for the immediate future of a people who have come to look upon automobile transportation as a strict necessity. Survey showed: only one car poking along at 40; 45, and 50 to 60 miles per hour were popular speeds; a few regarded 70 and better their rightful heritage — and defense workers, singled out by their tin hats, were among the worst offenders. And this in the face of a Presidential appeal to conserve rubber, fuel, and automobiles.

And it is easy to believe defense workers were among the faster drivers if what we see on Campbell's main thoroughfare is an example. Of course, many of these people are taking advantage of the tire rationing clause that gives defense workers priority — but they should realize that even defense workers won't be able to get tires if there are none.

If the federal government really intends to do anything about the 40-mile limit suggested by President Roosevelt it will doubtless be necessary to "pass a law." And the law would have to carry a clause providing for the use of 40-mile governors or the doubling or tripling of existing highway patrols. Or both.

A friend of mine who has practically a new car and excellent tires said, "I wish I could sell my car; when the tires are shot I'll have to put it up, anyway, and I hate to have that much money tied up in something I can't use." Now that's what I call a short-sighted attitude. In the first place, his tires are pretty apt to go the whole distance, with reasonable care. And in the second place, this owner is losing sight of the fact that even if the war were over in '43 or '44—to be optimistic—he would not be able to get a new bus for some time after the close of hostilities. Remember, the automobile industry won't be able to switch from tanks to cars any faster than it switched from cars to tanks—probably not as fast, for they won't be working with government money.

Campbell and Mt. View Clubs Have Joint Session

Meeting Tuesday evening at the community room the Mountain View and Campbell Kiwanis clubs held an inter-club session, with some 55 in attendance.

Entertainment arranged by the local club included two numbers by the Country Woman's club chorus, three solos by Josephine Barbano, and three saxaphone solos by Kenneth McDonell. Mrs. Irma Sanders was accompanist for all the selections.

A sixteen year 100 per cent attendance pin was presented to Guy E. Farley by Charles R. Crooke, past governor of the California - Nevada district.

Maurice Moore of the Mt. View club presented William F. Gandvoot, consulting professor at Stanford, and living in Los Altos. He had lived for 26 years in the Dutch East Indies and he gave a very instructive account of government, people, customs and productions of those islands.

Next week Dr. John B. Schneider of the University of California agriculture extension service, who is enlisting recruits for the volunteer state militia in Santa Clara county will be the speaker, to be presented by Raymond Bishop.

Jane Taylor, Dorothy Harnish, Winona Beach, Frank Savstrom, Jack Smith, and Al Porter are the chosen speakers for the afternoon.

There will be several individual numbers done by senior members of the a cappella choir and orchestra.

State College to Hold Homecoming Day Saturday, 6th

Over 75 alumni from Campbell are expected to attend San Jose State college's Alumni Homecoming Day on Saturday, June 6, at which nearly 500 graduates and former students will celebrate the institution's 80th year of service in the city of San Jose.

"Pioneers for 80 years" has been chosen as the theme for the day, which will be featured by a program reviewing the college's history by members of the speech department; an organ concert in the front quadrangle; an open house display in the new library building; and an informal luncheon.

The "Golden Grads" of the class of 1892 will be honored for the 50 years since their graduation, as will the classes of 1917 and 1932 for 25 and 10 years. Yancy Williams of San Jose, will be general chairman for the day.

Orchestra and Band Concert Held May 17

All who attended thoroughly enjoyed the musical numbers played by the high school band and orchestra in the concert held Sunday, May 17. It was a fine example of the work being done by the students in the musical department of the school.

The band started the program with a trumpet fanfare in the outer foyer. Then the band, with its colorful uniforms, marched down the aisles to the stage where it played "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by several numbers by the band, the orchestra, a clarinet, quartet, and a piano double-duo selection. Vocal selections were furnished by a trio and soloist.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner moved Saturday to 2091 El Camino Real, South Palo Alto, as Turner is now employed at the Dial Telephone Building in Palo Alto.

MANY MEN JOIN NAVY

Added to the long list of young men from Campbell in the Navy prior to Dec. 17, 1941, are the following, many having enlisted shortly after the attack which precipitated this country into war:

Stephen Nicholas Ban, son of Nicholas Ban; David Todd Crawley, Jr., son of D. T. Crawley, Sr.; Jack Alvin Dietrich, son of Albert Dietrich; David Edgar Farley, son of G. E. Farley; Allen Enoch Fry and Jacob Eugene Fry, sons of James Wilbur Fry; John Cary Hummel, son of R. B. Hummel; Robert Coleman Page, son of Roscoe Page; Homer Dow Pritchard, whose wife is Mary Francis Pritchard; William Eugene Revallier, son of Martie Revallier; James Wilson Ryan, son of James Francis Ryan; Albert J. Schmitt, Sr., whose wife is Ellen Elvera Schmitt; Stanley Augustus Smith, son of Thomas Smith; Floyd Everett Warren, whose wife is Ermena Warren.

B. J. Barber, CQM, U. S. N., officer in charge of recruiting says: "War time restriction must necessarily keep me from divulging the where-abouts of any of these young men. We are seeking and destroying the enemy wherever he can be found, so it's safe to say that somewhere on the broad expanse of the five oceans many of these boys, as well as those enlisting before them, are at their battle stations, in defense of those ideals which make the American way of life. Campbell can be proud of her sons for their determined and patriotic response to the call following the most treacherous attack that history records."

Enlistments in all branches of the Navy and Naval Reserve remain on the voluntary basis. Men registered with the selective service are eligible for enlistment, but must make their application before orders to report for induction are mailed. Application for all branches of the Navy and Naval Reserve can be made at the Navy Recruiting Office, P. O. Building, San Jose, California.

Another Patent Is Issued to T. A. Cutting

Another spectroscope patent has just been issued to T. A. Cutting. This patent No. 2282643 is for an instrument ten times as powerful as one patented by him in 1937. Although the cost is but a few dollars, the dispersion and analytical power of the instrument is about equal that of prism instruments selling for $5000.

The spectroscope employs a replica diffraction grating, made in his shop, with 25,000 rulings per inch. The demand for spectroscopes for analyzing ores in the search for strategic minerals is so great at present that it is very difficult to keep up with the orders.

Informative Talk On Indians at Club Meeting Enjoyed

The talk on Indian Tribes which Mrs. Jessie Shelley gave Monday before the Country Woman's club was informative and entertaining especially since much of the material was gained from personal contact, and was illustrated with quantities of fine pieces of handwork.

As a girl in the midwest Mrs. Shelley witnessed spring and fall migrations of Indians north and south and from then on has been an interested student of various tribes, their marked characteristics and ways of life.

With brief mention of other tribes, she described more particularly the Indians of the southwest, the Navajos, Apaches, Hopis and Papagos.

Miss Winifred Grizzle who was on the program committee was to have told of the Klamath and Modoc tribes as she had taught a school among them, but was unable to be present because of illness.

The club chorus sang a group of Indian songs, "Red Wing," "Indian Dawn" and "Pale Moon," and a "Spring Song," conducted for this occasion by C. P. Klassen, director of vocal music at the high school. Mrs. Virginia Rutherford was the accompanist. Composing the chorus were club members, Mesdames R. H. Hyde, C. P. Klassen, J. D. Blaine, J. O. Leverton, Howard Church, Hubert Wagner, Ira Grim and Nellie Rutherford, assisted by Mrs. Roy Morton, Mrs. Edith Reese and Mrs. Earl Buck.

Mrs. George E. Jeffers presided during the business meeting at which Mrs. C. B. Dondero was elected to membership.

Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, chairman of the picnic committee for the concluding meeting of the club year on June 1, reported that it would be held in the garden of Mrs. Carl Field, on North Second street at 12:30.

Each person will bring table service, her own sugar, and the food signed for. Members not present Monday who plan to attend will contact the committee.

Mrs. R. H. Hyde was soliciting contributions for the day rooms for the army groups stationed in parts of the county.

The committee for the day, Mrs. Shelley, Mrs. S. L. Selig, Mrs. A. W. Grizzle, Miss W. G. Grizzle and Mrs. B. N. Young, had arranged lovely baskets of Paul Scarlet roses to augment the attractive Indian display.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Steven Brinkerhoff have sold their home on El Patio and have moved to Mountain View where he is employed.

Applying for marriage licenses this week have been Ira Chambers, Oakland and Reeda Rogers, Campbell; J. M. Dahl and Eva Mitchell, both of Campbell.

TELL THEM THE GOOD NEWS!

"When you write to your sons in the service be cheerful. There's a fight ahead and we mothers can help." That advice, given the mothers of America's fighting men in a national broadcast, was spoken the other day by Mrs. Colin P. Kelly, who was widowed by the sacrifice that cost Japan a warship and gave the heart of the civilized world a mighty thrill of courage.

Knowing service men and service families would be listening to her, Mrs. Kelly talked of her baby, Colin P. Kelly, III. He's a husky, happy baby, she said, and she told of his birthday party, where he blew out the two candles on his cake with one puff before 15 small guests, and howled his glee over the gift of a kiddie car with airplane wings. "He's already airminded," she said.

No soldier hearing Mrs. Kelly could help feeling better and happier and braver for it. Every man who writes to a son or brother or pal in service, every mother and sister and girl friend, should bear in mind that cheerful news is a tonic for the soldiers—is the only news good for homesick men facing death in far countries..

Tell the boys about the kids' parties—not about their colds. Assure them that everything is going okay at home—even if the strict truth is skipped a bit in places. Gloomy news from home should come under the heading of information useful to the enemy: it harms army mrale. Write often, but write cheerfully. Play down the blues—and give 'em all the good news there is to write about.

MEMORIAL DAY

Not in a generation, not since 1918, has America observed a Memorial Day like that of this year. In happier times of peace, the sod thickens over the graves of the men who have died for America, as the years pass and time softens the pain of families that mourn them. In the cemeteries now the green blanket of grass lies torn by the brown earthen mounds of new graves—graves dug last week, and the week before then, and the week before then.

The blood and the tears of this war will seem very near and real to all who visit cemeteries on this Memorial Day, even to those who have not suffered personal loss. For all know that the sacrifice of death and grief must grow.

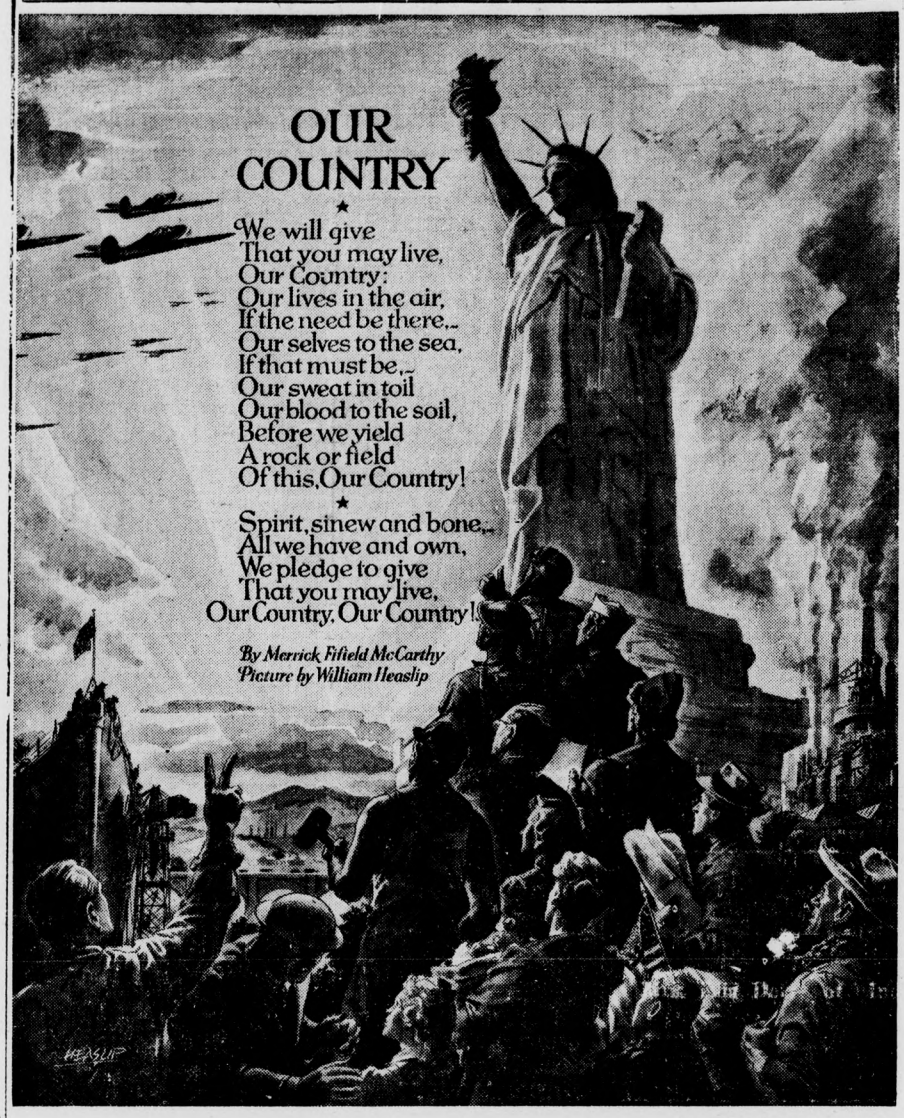

Nearer and more tangible than ever before, too, will seem the blood and tears of earlier wars. The soldier who died on Bataan has become an eternal comrade of the soldier who died at San Juan Hill, at Gettysburg, at Trenton, at St Mihiel. Times have changed, and weapons and enemies have changed, but the soldier dead who gave their lives under Washington and Lincoln and Pershing and MacArthur fought for one changeless cause: the freedom of this nation under the Constitution and the Flag.

Other comrades dying in the same cause may join them in future wars as the years roll, although all men of good will hope that this war shall be the last world conflagration of hate and conquest. The fresh graves and the graves of men who died in battles of long ago give assurance that America shall never want for defenders, and all of this generation may know that the sacrificies made for the liberty of posterity shall not be made in vain.

"Our Country" was written by Dr. Merrick Fifield McCarthy of the University of Cincinnati for Bundles for America, Inc., as his gift to this national organization which is furnishing comforts to men in the armed forces of the United States, their families and others adversely affected by war conditions. William Heaslip, noted American artist, conceived and executed the striking illustration. A revised version of the poem has been set to music by Jacques Wolfe, author of "Glory Road," "Shortn'n Bread" and other delightful melodies, and published by G. Schirmer, Inc., of New York. Post card size reproductions of the illustrated poem will soon be available through branches of Bundles for America where they will be sold to raise funds to help carry on its manifold services.

Opal's Bad Luck

The superstition regarding the opal's bad luck began in the Fourteenth century at the time of the Black Death, particularly in Venice. At that time the opal was a favorite of the Italian jewelers, but it was said that opals worn by those stricken with the disease became suddenly brilliant and that their luster departed upon the death of the owner. Thus the opal became associated with death and an object of dread.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"The Song of Bernadette" by Franz Werfel.

The author's incentive and desire to write and publish this book, as stated in the preface, has as deep a message as the finished publication. Franz Werfel's preface is "In the last days of June, 1940, in flight from our mortal enemies after the collapse of France, we reached the city of Lourdes. The two of us, my wife and I, had hoped to be able to elude them in time to cross the Spanish frontier to Portugal. But since the consuls unanimously refused the requisite visas, we had no alternative but to flee back with great difficulty to the interior of France on the very night on which the National Socialist troops occupied the border town of Hendaye. . . . There was no shelter to be had at all. . . . In Pau a family settled there told us that Lourdes was the one place where, if luck were kind, one might still find a roof. . . . We followed this advice and were sheltered at last. It was in this manner that Providence brought me to Lourdes, of the miraculous history of which I had hitherto had but the most superficial knowledge. . . . It was a time of great dread. But it was also a time of great significance for me, for I became acquainted with the wondrous history of the girl Bernadette Soubirous and also with the wondrous facts concerning the healing of Lourdes. One day in my great distress I made a vow. I vowed that if I escaped from this desperate situation and reached the saving shores of America, I would put off all other tasks and sing, as best I could, the song of Bernadette. This book is the fulfilment of my vow. All the memorable happenings which constitute the substance of this book took place in the world of reality. Since their beginning dates back no longer than eighty years, there beats upon them the bright light of modern history and their truth has been confirmed by friend and foe and by cool observers through faithful testimonies. My story makes no changes in this body of truth. I have dared to sing the song of Bernadette, although I am not a Catholic but a Jew; and I drew courage for this undertaking from a far older and far more unconscious vow than mine."

Bernadette Soubirous was a member of a very poor peasant family of France. And it was in her fourteenth year that she was visited by "the lady," for the first time. She alone of all her family, or any of the inhabitants of the city of Lourdes saw the vision. There were many and strong reasons of State and Church for discrediting a miracle, and unbelievably cruel and inhuman tricks were made to prove the girl a fraud. In the face of all opposition, and despite the fact that Bernadette herself made no claim except the single one that a beautiful woman had appeared to her, all France was aroused by the conviction that the Mother of God had appeared on earth.

The author does not ask that his readers believe or disblieve in Bernadette's miracle. He does, however, ask that they believe in Bernadette.

In this novel the reader meets many people. There are powerful individuals, kings even, and high dignitaries of the Church. There are also the little people, laborers, beggars, and outcasts of society. Some of the men and women show broad sympathies and deep understanding while others display narrow views and cruel decisions. There are intellectuals and idealists. There is in fact, mankind to observe, to understand.

"The Song of Bernadette" is a work of beauty. The reader's enjoyment and enthusiasm intone the melody.

To Private Willie Gillis, and to millions of American boys now in service, the home town newspaper is like a dozen letters from home, satisfying their craving for all the news about the folks they know. The home town newspaper is friendly, intimate and satisfying. The soldiers and sailors, and the folks at home, read every word with eager interest. It is as American as the Stars and Stripes, as vital as Faith, Hope and Charity. Through the home town newspaper, advertisers reach the millions of American families on the basis of a warm and ready welcome into their homes. In his Saturday Evening Post drawing of Private Willie Gillis, Norman Rockwell has paid a convincing tribute to a great institution—THE HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER.

Second, by families talking this over and knowing what they will do or are doing. Please be courteous and help to make the call pleasant and brief.

Your Reward — The wonderful feeling that you are doing your part in the big job that is to be done; being able to look at the picture of the boy we told good-bye and say "I'm trying, too." And that good feeling that comes with the knowledge that we have something laid away for that harder time that may come in the best investment in all this world, our own country.

OSBORNE COLSON, FEATURED SKATER IN ICE FOLLIES OPENING AT WINTERLAND

Ice skating celebrities of the United States, Canada and Europe will return to San Francisco to present the latest edition of their great ice spectacle, the Ice Follies of 1942 which will open at Winterland, Thursday, May 28, for a limited run.

Bigger and more brilliant than ever, the dazzling ice revue will be seen in an entirely new edition.

New stars have been added to the already star-studded cast which has delighted thousands here during the past three years. Routines are new, music is new and all of the acts are new. There are now 103 skaters in the show.

Shipstad and Johnson have blended into their Ice Follies of 1942 the beauty and gaiety of a royal court, the fun and frolic of a circus, the fantasy of dreams, the excitement of a Mexican fiesta and the masterful skill of the world's greatest ice skaters.

Heading the cast with all-new presentations are Eddie Shipstad, Oscar Johnson, Roy Shipstad, Bess Ehrhardt, Ruby and Bobby Maxson, Papez and Zwack, Osborne Colson, Fran Claudet, the McKellen brothers, the Galbraith brothers, Mae Ross, Phyllis and Harris Legg and others.

New to San Francisco audiences will be Heinie Brock, the Thomas Twins and Norah McCarthy. Brock does hilarious clowning and heckling with a fantastic style of skating which is one of the big hits of the show on its Eastern tours. The Thomas twins are an amazingly identical pair whose duplicate skating feats have drawn them quick acclaim. Norah McCarthy was last year's Canadian senior champion and is rated one of the best skaters in the world.

Tickets for the sparkling blade entertainment are now available at Winterland..

Consumer Credit Regulation Is Revised

The following statement has been prepared in connection with revised Regulation W of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System pertaining to consumer credit. The revised regulation was adopted effective May 6, 1942, as one part of the program set forth by the President in his special message to Congress on April 27, 1942.

"Inquiries received by this bank indicate that some stores have gained the impression that the Federal Reserve regulation setting maximum terms on installment and charge accounts, as revised effective May 6, permits sales to be made on 'open book' or 'charge account" with the understanding that the account may later be converted to an installment sales contract having a maturity up to six months. This procedure apparently has been considered acceptable by some stores and consumers as a means of avoiding the cash down payment provisions required on all installment sales of listed articles.

"Such an impression is erroneous. The sale of any listed article in an open book or charge account with an agreement, arrangement, or understanding that the credit will later be converted into an installment contract violates section 5(a) and 11(a) of the regulation. It is desired that this be widely understood by all retailers extending credit in order that they may not unintentionally make sales which do not comply with the regulation."

Public Asked to Help Control Fire

The war confronts California with the toughest over-all fire problem to be found in the United States. It intensifies the already dangerous fire hazards within our forests and watersheds, not only because of acts of sabotage and incendiarism by enemies, but also through the acute and growing shortage of manpower and the difficulties of obtaining much needed additional equipment.

The California State Council of Defense, Division of Forestry and the State Board of Forestry and cooperating agencies are trying to meet this shortage in various ways:

1—By building up an auxiliary force, for use in emergencies, of high school and college students who will be trained in fire fighting techniques.

2—By organizing farm workers as volunteer firemen.

3—By using prison labor.

4—By recruitment from any and all other sources.

The Division of Forestry asks the public not only to be extra careful with cigarettes, camp fires, and automobiles, but also to report fires to the rangers or other authority.

The Division of Forestry urges the people to help in preserving their own natural resources.

The Women's Service club are postponing their May 27 meeting until Wednesday, June 3. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Weaver on Milton avenue with Mrs. Ellis Crane, Mrs. Herman Rice and Miss Eunice Reader assisting. The members will work on the quilts for the emergency hospital.

State Takes Bachelor Estates

The property of bachelors, in Bulgaria, is completely inherited by the state, except in the case of an acknowledged child, who is entitled to a certain part of it.

Corporal Winfield Archibald was home on furlough from May 4 to 12, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Archibald. He is now stationed at the Perrin Air Field at Sherman, Texas, with the ground force.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it ponton, not "pontoon", as you do. Ponton bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontons is pictured here. The largest ponton bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest ponton, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 percent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

Vitamins and Minerals...

Here's how to cook and boil them, so as not to waste and spoil them:

1. Use little water. Start vegetables in boiling water.
2. Cook slowly so as to steam through.
3. Cook vegetables as nearly whole as possible. Do not stir.
4. Prevent shrinkage of meat with low-temp roasting.

HOMEMAKERS throughout America are enlisted for the duration of the war to carry on with Nutritive Cooking.

Nutritive Cooking means just one thing—getting the most out of food that is cooked. Proper cooking retains vitamins and minerals that are in all foods. Improper cooking boils out or destroys these body-building food energies.

Follow the recipes and the menus in your local newspaper and in national magazines that tie-in with the National Nutrition program. Buy food wisely. Store it right. Cook it properly. Take good care of your present range so that it will carry on efficiently and economically for years to come.
